Hagen Reels Off Sparkling 68 To Top British Golf

Four Times Holder of Open Championship Displays Old-time Form in Par Shattering Round To-day at St. Andrews; Patrick Nolan, Medalist, in Qualifying Round Has a 71

Cyril Tolley, Tom Fernie and Ed. Dudley in Second Place With 70's; Sandy Somerville Near Top With Par 72; Sarazen Goes Round in 72

Canadian Press

St. Andrews, Scotland, July 5.—Walter Hagen, the United States veteran who has won the British open golf crown four times, to-day shot into the lead with a spectacular 68, five under par, for the first round of the championship proper of the 1933 edition of the historic tourney.

Hagen was out in 32, four under par, and clipped another stroke of perfect figures over the incoming nine of the "old" championship course. His total was only a stroke short of the course record set by William (Pat) Nolan, Irish pro, in the qualifying competition, and took the lead from Cyril J. H. Tolley, British amateur, who had a 70 to-day.

Nolan has 71

Nolan, unheralded pro from Portmarnock, Ireland, who won the qualifying medal with 71-67, carded a 71, two under par.

Sandy Somerville's game improved to-day under the cool, windless weather conditions, and he carded an even par 73. The amateur from London, Ont., made the turn over tricky St. Andrews in 37. On the "old" "open stretch" he hit a stroke from par for a 36.

His card follows:

Out 4 5 5 4 5 4 3 3 4—37

In 3 4 4 5 4 4 3 3—36—73

Gem Sarzen, defending champion, trailed Hagen to-day by four strokes, shooting a 72. Tied with Sarzen were Archie Compton, British professional, and George Dunlap, New York amateur.

PRINCE OF WALES PRESENT

The Prince of Wales was a spectator as Hagen finished his great round and was among the first to congratulate the American.

In the "home" trench alongside the par-breaking Tolley, Nolan and Compton, were Henry Cotton, with 73; Abe Mitchell, 74, and Charles Whitcomb, 76.

Alex. (Sandy) Herd, the sixty-five-year-old Scot who has qualified in more than forty open championships, encountered hard luck when he slipped and sprained an ankle on the tenth fairway after waving to friends in the gallery. He continued and scored an 82.

Joe Kirkwood, American trick-shot artist, finished strongly over the incoming nine with a 36 for a total of 72, but both Lee Diegel and Johnny Farrell slipped on the home journey. Lee carded 38-39-75 and Farrell 36-41-77.

ANOTHER GREAT 70

Tom Fernie, Scottish pro from St. Anne's, England, equalled Tolley's 70 with another sub-par blast of shot-making that left the old course reeling.

VINES WINNER OVER COCHET

U.S. Champion Defeats French Ace to Reach Final in Wimbledon Tennis

Match Goes to Four Sets; Vines Will Meet Jack Crawford in Deciding Battle

Canadian Press
Wimbledon, Eng., July 5.—Jack Crawford, Australia, and Ellsworth Vines, United States, to-day became finalists for the all-England tennis crown.

The lanky Vines, American singles titleholder and defending champion, won his semi-final from Henri Cochet, former French ruler of the courts 6-2, 8-6, 3-6, 6-1.

Crawford, champion in his native Australia, advanced to the last bracket by defeating Jiro Sato, Japan, 6-3, 6-4, 2-6, 6-4. Crawford was always in control, and Vines was loosing through the third set after Sato had jumped away to an early lead.

URGE T. BUCK BE RELEASED

Workers' Groups in Toronto District Want Other "Class War" Prisoners Freed

Canadian Press
Toronto, July 5.—Emphatically denouncing "class war" imprisonment and "slave" labor, the East York Workers' Association endorsed resolutions of the Toronto Regional Labor Conference recommending immediate action to the Regina conference on these matters.

The first resolution calls on the Regina convention of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation to "organize a nation-wide campaign for the release of Tim Buck" and all class war prisoners.

Political Paragraphs

Municipal Party Is Now Object of Attention. Many Municipally-trained Men in Legislature. When Will Dr. Tolmie Retire? Asks Columnist. Conservatives Want Better Deal From Weather Man.

Candidates nominated to date: Liberals 34, Tolmie Unionist 2, Bowserites 7, C.C.F. 15, Independents 10, United Front 5, Total 73.

At the present moment considerable interest is being centered in the Municipal Party, which was introduced to the public last week by Political Paragraphs. Reginald Hayward, Saanich, who is president of the Union of B.C. Municipalities, admitted that the matter was being considered.

The first whisper of a Municipal Party was heard last year by Mayor Lester of Victoria, who was making great efforts to have the provincial government give the municipalities better interest in respect to grants. The government was shifting part of its load on to the shoulder of the municipalities.

It was given to the suggestion at that time, and it was unofficially discussed by the delegates from the union who were interviewing the government. The response, however, was not regarded as sufficient to warrant the launching of the party.

Since that time the Union of Municipalities has had to pay further visits to the Tolmie Cabinet and discuss what its officers considered unfair treatment in regard to unemployment relief and social service cuts. The movement for a Municipal Party has been revived and there is more support for it than last year.

Reeve Crouch says that although no definite steps have yet been taken it is a live issue and there is every prospect the party will be launched.

MRS. H. KENT PASSES AWAY

Well-known Native Daughter Succumbs to Sudden Heart Attack Early To-day

Her Charitable Acts Are Well Remembered; Took Part in Amateur Theatricals

THE LATE MRS. HERBERT KENT

At an early hour this morning Georgina Seymour Kent, wife of Herbert Kent, passed away at the family residence, 228 Douglas Street. The announcement of her passing came as a great shock to her many friends in Victoria.

Born in Victoria in February, 1886, Mrs. Kent was the daughter of the late M. H. Watt, a pioneer musician and business man, from whom she inherited her love for music as well from mother. The late Mr. Watt, in many years took part in amateur operas and plays produced in Victoria. She staged many productions for charitable and benevolent purposes.

Mrs. Kent's contributions to the local newspaper were read with interest and admiration. She wrote a book, "Three Girls Under Canvas," which disclosed her literary talent.

In earlier years she took a keen interest in the newsboys of Victoria, and was instrumental in forming a club for them as well as arranging concerts, picnics and other entertainments.

TREATY INFLUENCES TRADE DISCUSSION

London, July 5.—A questioner in the Commons was assured by a government spokesman to-day that in trade talks between Britain and Russia, the British Government will take into full account article 21 of the British-Canadian trade agreement.

This provides that where the imperial preferences are endangered by the importation of products sold at unfair prices because of state subsidies or state production, such commodities will be prohibited entry.

POLICE SEIZE GROUP'S BOOKS

Society's Records Taken in Winnipeg; Government Alleges Communism

Winnipeg, July 5.—Acting on a warrant issued by Hon. W. J. Major, Manitoba Attorney General, city and Mounted police to-day raided the Ukrainian Labor Temple here and seized the books and records of the Workers' Benevolent Society of Canada, whose affairs have been the subject of protracted litigation before the civil court.

The warrant was issued to-day following a raid by directors of the society to appear before Albert J. Harrison, government auditor, appointed last week as commissioner to investigate affairs of the society. Nine directors refused to appear before the commissioners and refused to produce their books, refused to do so on the advice of their counsel, Hon. E. J. McMurray.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police, assisted by city police, took possession of the building to-day and seized the records.

In its civil suit against the society the government contention is that the society is sponsoring and financing certain Communist activities.

BARGE CREW IS LOST IN GALE

New York, July 5.—A three-day gale in the north and a hurricane in the south left their marks to-day along the Atlantic Coast.

The hurricane, which killed thirteen in South Trinidad Island June 27 and hit Cuba, was sweeping across the Gulf of Mexico to-day, approaching the southwest toward Louisiana and Texas.

Five men, crew of a barge, were believed lost in the northern sea-coast gale.

LARGE EXPORT IS ANTICIPATED

Colin C. Cochran Predicts Increase in Sale of Canned Fruits Overseas

Expect to Deliver About $80,000 Worth of B.C. Products in Old Country

A distinctly optimistic note for the future of exportation of canned fruits from British Columbia to overseas markets was sounded by Colin C. Cochran, manager of the Spanish Canning Company of Sidney, this afternoon, when reviewing the present situation in regard to the exporting of loganberries.

It is anticipated that the total of this year's export will be between 25,000 and 30,000 cases. Mr. Cochran stated, which is greater than ever before. The principal reasons for the increase in the overseas trade are attributed to the preference of the European market for the high quality of the Canadian fruit and the favorable situation on the exchange as far as Canadian exporters were concerned. The foreign market, he added, would take care of a large surplus of loganberries this year. The logan will sell at about $8 a case.

The loganberry crop will be handled by the four Spanish canneries at Sidney, Gordon Head, Cedar Hill and Lake Hill.

SALE INCREASING OVERSEAS

Mr. Cochran predicted that the sale of the Canadian fruits in the Old Country would, to a certain extent, relieve that of the California products.

One order had been received from a London firm for a $40,000 shipment, he said, and previously there had never been an order from this company.

Raspberry shipping this year has been good, he said, for both whole sellers and farmers, he continued, owing to the failure of the Ontario crop. Sale of strawberries, however, has been confined to Canada, the largest market being on the Prairies.

Canned strawberries from British Columbia were finding a more favorable market in our country, he said, which augured well for the 1934 crop.

The raspberry crop this year has been somewhat disappointing.

Mr. Cochran said he had been informed by growers a majority of the crops having suffered from winter kill.

Australians Ready to Limit Exports, But Demand Import and Export Co-operation in Europe; Premier Bennett Shares in Discussion in London

GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, July 5.—The four great wheat-exporting nations of the world to-day finally reached an agreement "in principle" on adjusting wheat production and exports to the world demand, but Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, questioned by the Canadian Press, declined to go into any details.

The agreement was reached by the Canadian, Australian, the United States and Argentina, who have been conferring on a new world monetary unit for use as a measuring rod during the period of fluctuating exchanges preceding stabilization was understood in United States quarters here to-day to have been suggested by President Roosevelt in his instructions to Secretary of State Cordell Hull regarding the future of the World Economic Conference.

At the same time it was said in United States quarters the impression prevailed the major part of the conference would recess this week, leaving committees to carry on technical work, possibly at Geneva.

Subsequently he dispatched Lawrence Steinhardt, United States minister to Sweden, to London for fresh and personal elaboration of the American position.

NEW MONETARY UNIT

London, July 5.—Creation of an international monetary unit for use as a measuring rod during the period of fluctuating exchanges preceding stabilization was understood in United States quarters here to-day to have been suggested by President Roosevelt in his instructions to Secretary of State Cordell Hull regarding the future of the World Economic Conference.

At the same time it was said in United States quarters the impression prevailed the major part of the conference would recess this week, leaving committees to carry on technical work, possibly at Geneva.

Mr. Roosevelt's view was expressed after leaden communication with President

Roosevelt in Washington to determine the American action on the proposal for adjournment of the conference to-morrow's meeting of the steering committee.

London, July 5.—The United States delegation now favors a recess of the World Economic Conference, according to an American spokesman.

This announcement was made this evening after a meeting of Secretary of State Hull, Assistant Secretary of State Moley and Senator Pittman with Premier Ramsay MacDonald, British Prime Minister, and chairman of the conference and other conference leaders.

It was expected the steering committee meeting to-morrow would recommend a recess of the conference.

The proposal for a recess calls for some work as is possible while the assembly as a whole goes home.

JOBLESS DOING REPAIR WORK

Men Labor on Sidewalks and Ferry Wharves in North Vancouver

Canadian Press

North Vancouver, July 5.—Approximately 350 men in the City and District of North Vancouver are receiving relief in return for work, according to a report by Commissioner C. E. Tisdall on the unemployment relief situation on the north shore of Burrard Inlet.

Men are doing necessary municipal work such as cleaning ditches and repairing sidewalks and ferry wharves. The work is rotated, and given to the men according to their needs. A number of men are engaged daily.

In the course of a month, according to the commissioner, 200 men in the city and 150 men in the district are given relief in return for work.

The men are paid in cash on conclusion of their shift.

Story of Water as Skin Alliment Cure, New York Curator, Bediamonded Hoodlum and Suggestion of "A Ride"

By Dale Harrison,
Associated Press Writer

New York, July 5.—When a racketeer will go so far as to threaten an aquarium curator with calamity unless the curator lets him have some water like that the fish swim in, the water must be good.

These are the facts:

C. W. Coates, curator of the Aquarium here, was looking at some water through a microscope. Mr. Coates saw bacteriophage—bacteria killer.

He found the bacteriophage possessed a certain value in the treatment of skin diseases and word soon got around. Ladies and gentlemen plagued by breakouts and that sort of thing began implored Coates for bacteriophage.

To all, Coates said:

"We are operating an aquarium, not a clinic."

Munich, July 5.—The Catholic Bavarian Populist Party yesterday evening announced it would dissolve voluntarily.

Count Eugene Quadt-Lany, who was empowered to act for the party, issued a statement reading:

"Through the revolution, there is no possibility offered for activity outside the National Socialist Party. Every member, therefore, is free to help the reconstruction of Germany through the direct leadership of Chancellor Hitler."

VERIGIN IS NOW IN SASKATCHEWAN

Canadian Press

Kamsack, Sask., July 5.—Setting at rest numerous rumors as to his whereabouts, Peter Verigin, titular head of the Doukhobors in Canada, has reappeared. He is staying at his community headquarters in the village of Verigin.

Making his first appearance since he was picked up in Winnipeg on the Immigration Department's second unsuccessful attempt to have him deported, Verigin paid Kamsack a brief business visit Monday. He was accompanied by Ben Miller of Edmonton, Sask., adviser and negotiator for firms and interests seeking to complete a Mexican land deal, and A. E. Kazahoff, who has been driving the Doukhobor leader around by automobile.

The party returned to Verigin the same evening.

Toppenish, Wash., July 5.—Promising to get results in his fight against the present prices of gasoline, "if it takes all summer," Governor Clarence Martin addressed 8,000 persons attending the Fourth of July celebration here.

Intimating conspiracy on the part of gasoline companies to increase the price of motor fuel, Governor Martin said that if facts should be found to warrant it, a grand jury investigation would be called.

In his annual speech, the governor added: "The price has advanced so much it will break the state to pay for week-end trips of employees."

LITVINOFF GAINS FOR RUSSIA AT WORLD CONFERENCE

When the above picture was taken M. Litvinoff and his wife were walking from the Conference Hall in London after a session. Madame Litvinoff is an Englishwoman. She speaks Russian as well as English. M. Litvinoff speaks English in addition to his native language.

By Melvin K. Whiteleather, Associated Press Staff Writer

London, July 5.—Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet Foreign Commissar, who entered the World Economic Conference as an unknown quantity, is now being hailed as a master mind at the conclave.

M. Litvinoff along of all the galaxy of statesmen assembled in London has something concrete out of the meetings here.

While others disputed over currency stabilization and other financial and economic issues, the rotund bespectacled Russian minister got nine nations to sign non-aggression pacts with his country, did more to smooth the way for United States recognition of the Soviet Government, completed negotiations for the Soviet purchase of 60,000 to 80,000 bales of cotton from the United States on a 70 per cent credit basis, and, with Sir John Simon, British Secretary for Foreign Affairs, agreed to the release of two British diplomats imprisoned at Moscow in exchange for the lifting of Britain's retaliatory embargo on Russian goods.

NON-AGGRESSION TREATIES

An agreement open to all nations, defining aggression, was signed yesterday by Russia, Roumania, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and Turkey. This was another link in the Litvinoff chain of non-aggression treaties, which now numbers sixteen.

LITTLE ENTENTE

The Soviet commissioner is credited in conferences lobbying for a new alliance to counter the Central European fears of Hitlerism in order to obtain the support of the Little Entente—Czechoslovakia, Roumania and Yugoslavia.

The dispute between Russia and Roumania over Bessarabia has kept the Little Entente countries and the Soviet Union in a state of tension.

THE BUSIEST BEE AT THE WORLD CONFERENCE

Press reports make it plain that whatever may happen to the world economic conference some of the delegates will not go home empty-handed. The representative who seems to have been making the most hay in the fitful rays of the conference sun is Maxim Litvinoff, Commissar for Foreign Affairs of Russia, who has been negotiating treaties right and left, thereby making his trip thoroughly worth while. He has signed non-aggression pacts with nine nations, effected an arrangement with Great Britain by which both countries will cancel embargoes against one another's trade while the two British engineers sent to jail in Moscow will be released, and negotiated with the United States the purchase of cotton on American credits.

The completion of the nine non-aggression pacts represent a marked expansion of Russia's foreign policy in the direction of peaceful relations with her neighbors, which was initiated several years ago and conducted by Litvinoff with consummate ability. Pacts already had been signed with France, Poland and Finland. There are still two close neighbors, one in the east and the other in the west, with which there is no pact. One, Japan, flatly refused to enter into such an arrangement some months ago, while Germany under Hitlerism, which regards the Soviet as a plague, is also likely to remain outside the charmed circle.

These pacts and accords are significant, particularly of the desire of Russia for peaceful relations with the outside world, her hope evidently being to concentrate entirely upon her own domestic programme. It is worth noting that as a result of Litvinoff's activities the prospect of trouble in the west, if Russia and Japan should clash, has been considerably lessened.

It is altogether probable that the negotiation of these non-aggression pacts and trade agreements was the real purpose of Litvinoff's presence at the conference, for he had a unique opportunity for his operations in the presence of London of high government representatives from virtually every important nation in the world. Rarely again, if ever, will there be such a gathering in one place. It would have taken the Russian Commissar at least a year to negotiate with separate capitals what he has been able to complete within a few weeks.

Another significant feature is the fact that no matter what the conference might do in a general sense, various great powers had the time and inclination to engage in the negotiation of special treaties with one another in their own respective interests. And they would have continued to do so, conference or no conference. The conflict over currency stabilization simply arises from the incompatibility of national interests. France some years ago revalued the franc to a point which now makes it the equivalent of five cents in our currency although before the war it was at twenty cents. The abandonment of the gold standard by Great Britain reduced the value of the pound in our currency. The United States has adopted a similar policy to some extent in relation to the dollar. In each case self-interest was the dominating factor. Similarly Litvinoff has been promoting what he regards as Russia's special interest in his non-aggression and trade pacts, and the countries with which he has completed his agreements no doubt are actuated by the same motives.

Litvinoff is one of the ablest foreign ministers in the world. All through the piece he has kept Russia's official relations with other nations on a plane which is not at all suggestive of Russian domestic policy. It may be that the influence of his British-born and British-educated wife has something to do with his attitude. In any case, the failure of the conference would not mean failure for him. It is plain enough that he has been the busiest diplomatic bee in that particular hive.

DISMISSELS FROM GOVERNMENT SERVICE

During the session of the Legislature Mr. Patullo made it clear that if he is elected to office he will not consider his government bound to continue any policies or actions instituted by the moribund administration in which he was opposed. This announcement has special significance in the light of certain changes the government is making in the personnel of the civil service, notably the retirement of officials who were appointed by the previous government and who, no doubt, will be replaced by supporters of the present government.

Mr. Patullo will be the leader of the next government of this province, and we may be sure he will review all the present administration has done in respect of general policy as well as civil service changes. There is no likelihood of the present ministry, which has been repudiated by most of its legislative supporters, winning more than five seats, at the most, of the forty-seven to be contested, and these twilight dismissals of old and faithful officials, therefore, constitute an affront to the whole public service. Senator Taylor of New Westminster, a life-long Conservative, evidently knew whereof he spoke when he said "that responsible government has vanished from this province."

CITY TAXES ROLLING IN

Nearly one-third of the current civic tax levy has been paid into the treasury in the first six months of the year, and this despite the fact that the annual notices have not been despatched from the City Hall.

The latest available figures show the collections under the prepayment system to be in about $490,000, which is a new high mark since this plan of tax payments was instituted ten years ago. The increase over last year, which set a record figure up to that time, is approximately $45,000, or ten per cent.

While these figures are indicative of a desire on the part of the property owners to aid the City Council in surmounting the financial crisis occasioned by economic conditions and resulting unemployment, the actual test will come within the next three months. The payments made during this period will be closely watched as indicating improvement, or otherwise, in the condition of those taxpayers who are forced to postpone payment of their accounts until the last minute. Those who have met tax bills in the early part of the year have been able to take advantage of interest allowed over several months, securing in some cases substantial reduction in taxes with the lower mill rate.

Thus the alleviating measures of the council in regard to arrears in taxes have been productive of fairly satisfactory results so far. A rebate of fifty per cent in the penalty on the unpaid accounts is allowed as a relief measure and it is stated that more than $50,000 has been paid into the treasury under this plan.

VICTORIA LOSES A GOOD CITIZEN

Mrs. Herbert Kent, who passed away early this morning, will be long remembered here for the diversity of her interest in the community in which she was born and spent all of her life. It would be difficult, indeed, to recall any cause or enterprise calculated to promote the welfare of the city to which she did not give her attention, and for the success of which she was ready at all times to devote her abundant energy and alert intelligence.

The daughter of a pioneer music house proprietor and the wife of a well-known musician and businessman, she early interested herself in the music life of the community, and took part in many productions both as producer and performer. But this was only one aspect of her many-sided personality. She wrote admirably and contributed many articles to the press on a variety of subjects. She was a champion of sports, especially for the youth, and never was happier than when she saw a lot of youngsters contending on the playing fields or in the swimming tank.

More than anything else Mrs. Kent had a fine instinct for humanity, and her kindness was proverbial. Broad-minded to a degree she was proof against sham pretence and pettiness of all kinds. She will be greatly missed by a large circle of friends whose sympathy will go out in unbounded measure to her husband and other members of her family.

NEW GORGE BRIDGE IS LONG OVERDUE

According to an announcement in the press tenders for the steel work for the new Gorge bridge are to be invited shortly, although there is no information of the date when construction will begin.

Work on this structure should have been begun months ago, in fact shortly after the condemnation of the present bridge by the Public Works Department. The bridge is a necessary link of communication across the waterway which divides the community, and its importance to many people is out of all proportion to its dimensions and cost, which are relatively small. If it is going to take six months to provide this indispensable improvement, it will be nothing short of an outrage.

Incidentally, it will be observed that no time was lost in authorizing the contract between the government and the quite unnecessary bridge at Ladner to cost $2,600,000.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

EXACTLY.
The Vancouver Province

The sidersmen may quibble as they like about the granting of a fixed assessment to an elevator or any industry is equivalent to a bonus. The object is to reduce the amount of taxes the elevator or industry will pay. If it does not reduce the tax bill, it is of no value at all. If it does reduce the bill, the other taxpayers will have to make up the deficiency. They will have to pay more while the favored interest will pay less. If that is not bonusing, what is it?

FILMS FOR CHILDREN
The New Sun

The commercial showing of many more films made for children is admittedly desirable, but the problem is fundamentally an economic one. Few juvenile films are made because few can be made which will pay for themselves and give some profit to theatres and producers. There is not a sufficient amount of organized sentiment in most communities to bring pressure to bear on theatres for the arrangement of special performances for children. All the research in the world could not prevent the average boy from reading dime novels if he forms a taste for them; a study of the effects of motion pictures on children may accomplish no more without the enthusiastic co-operation of parents.

WHERE COST PROHIBITS
The Fortnightly Review

It is significant that almost every nation in the League is planning its future on anything but a peace basis. Turn whithersoever we may, the looming spectre of another ruthless war may be described on the horizon. A European war in the immediate future, however, who ever may prophesy it, is an impossibility. In spite of the preparation now going forward no power would dare embark on such a ruinous venture. Everybody knows that Germany is practically unarmed and hemmed in by a ring of iron, and that the other nations are destitute of "the sinews of war," cramped with budgetary deficits, crushed with taxes, and on the verge of bankruptcy. Even the unentangled United States is not yet out of the financial or social morsels into which it has fallen.

KING'S SWANS HAVE FAMILY

Stork Brings Two Cygnets to Royal Birds at Elk Lake Bird Sanctuary

One pair of the King's swans, which were received last summer from His Majesty's flock at Windsor and placed on Elk Lake, nested this spring at the northwest foreshore of the lake and have brought forth two fine cygnets.

In this instance the birds nested on the mainland shore rather than on one of the few islands that dot the lake. The fact is stressed because some citizens have harbored the mistaken idea that these birds will nest only on an island.

Together with this spring's increase at Beacon Hill Park, recently recorded in these pages, the latest addition to Victoria's swan population, with other imminent hatchings, brings the objective of 1,000 birds well on its way to eventual attainment.

It is not known exactly how many royal swans may be distinguished from the others. The royal birds have all been marked by W. H. Warren, park superintendent, with a leg-band of aluminum as distinct from leg-bands of copper adorning the others.

EMPIRE FRUIT NOW IMPORTED

Birks-Crawford of Vancouver Handling British Pineapples to Canadian Trade

A splendid example of the practical development of a greater volume of trade within the British empire is given in the recent introduction to the British Columbia market of Birks' pineapple by Birks-Crawford Limited, Vancouver.

In the past, the large Canadian demand for better quality pineapple has been supplied by packers outside empire countries. Under certain British practices, however, foreign countries have been made subject to a higher scale of tariff which now makes it possible for empire pineapple to enter the Canadian market on a very advantageous basis to the Canadian consumer. Birks-Crawford Limited, who have been one of the largest pineapple importers, were among the first to realize the possibilities of a more intense development of a native empire product and immediately entered into negotiations with leading growers and packers to supply a high quality product to replace that which was previously supplied by foreign shippers.

Now it is possible for the Canadian consumers to buy a good grade pineapple, produced within the British empire, at a price much lower than has obtained hitherto for a product of similar quality. Reports from the trade indicate that the British empire pineapple is being well received everywhere. It is the intention of the importers to gradually extend their marketing operations to cover the whole of Canada.

An Illusion Of Tropical Night On Lynn Canal

Alaska Cruise Boat Sails Through Rippling Seas of North With Thermometer Over the 80 Degree Mark: Washing Cars in Broad Daylight of 2 a.m. at Juneau; a Dawson Mining Man and His Hard Luck.

By LESLIE FOX
Special Representative of The Victoria Times

Aboard the Prince George, June 25 (By Mail)—Southbound from Skagway: thermometer at sailing time, 83 in the shade; down the beautiful Lynn Canal with a refreshing breeze; glaciers, mountains and trees beneath a cloudless sky, onward into the gathering dusk.

The sun sets, leaving a faint tinge of light afterglow; within an hour it is daylight.

Dancing on the main deck, "neath canopy and colored lights; an illusion of the tropics; warm; carefree; and the music plays on and on the time of a permanent vacation.

Juneau at 2:30 a.m. Sunday: street lights ablaze, but unnecessary; the Alaska-Juneau gold mill operating at full blast, submerging the noises of the town; busy streets; a man washing his car at this hour; the second visit here seems more delightful in the early morning; the steamer's warning bell and then on through rippling waters.

Second afternoon, Wrangell Narrows; a tricky passage; scores of buoys to mark treacherous rocks; tide rips, and the ship swings easily from side to side; shores narrowing and parting in picturesque succession to the town of Wrangell, fishing centre for the Stikine River.

Smally fishing boats; more and more curio stores; totems and totem poles; wooded streets and evergreen lawns; a prettier aspect than other Alaskan towns; boys and girls selling garnets from nearby ledges at three for 5 cents; Indian women selling moccasins.

Only a brief stop before upping and leaving town; Ketchikan and our of Alaska; a number of 32 variety, with dinner, but tea comes in Canadian territory.

New passengers for the southbound trip; two sisters, one a teacher at Forty-Mile in Alaska; the other wife to a mounted policeman on the Pelly River; a number of Alaskans and their comparative neighbors in this country of great distances; reunited for the trip "outside." The "Mounty's" wife had not seen a white woman for months; four years in the northern wilds among the natives.

A mining man from Dawson City, expects to clean up $2,000 in summer. He has a good job, but a hot bath of steam robs him of the sight of an eye and he goes outside for an operation; he lost a finger last Christmas; "seems to be my tough year," he smiles.

FLUFFY RUFFLES WIN
HOLLYWOOD'S FANCY

Hollywood—All the girls who can get away with it are going in for some fluffy ruffles.

None does it better than little Janet Gaynor. With a simple blue crepe sleeveless dress she wears starched organdy guimpes, with tucked and ruffled sleeves, a double collar of the organdy and ruffy jobs.

Others that have done themselves proud in this type of very feminine things include:

June Vlasek, lunching at Sardi's with Victor Jory, and wearing a blue and white dotted Swiss dress with a ruffled skirt and very big puffed short sleeves. Even her white pique coat had ruffles for sleeves and her white pique hat was a floppy picture one.

Jean Carmen, dancing at the Colony Club with Joel McCrea, wearing a light yellow taffeta dinner dress with large crimson, green and gray flowers printed on it, the dress made with ruffles all around the irregular decolleté and having an old-fashioned "dust ruffle" around the bottom.

Frances Dee wears organdy blouses, even with a suit. Claudette Colbert likes her ruffles restrained but always has a touch of fluffy white stuff around the neck and arms of dark dresses. Heather Angel, lunching at the Brown Derby with her mother, wore a printed periwinkle blue cotton frock, very quaint with its flounce and short sleeves edged in pleated ruffles.

Arline Judge, dancing with her director-husband, Wesley Ruggles, at the Roosevelt Blossom Room, wore a pale green starched lace dress, the skirt having a ruffling, ruffly back treatment from waistline to hem, and ruffles around the neckline and sleeves. She wore a printed belt of highly colored flowers.

"Summer Complaint"
A THREAT TO EVERY BABY

Even an ordinary attack of "summer complaint" weakens and pulls a baby down, while a severe, prolonged attack is dangerous. To guard your precious baby against this menace, make doubly sure that the milk is fresh, pure and sweet; try to prevent baby getting overheated or chilled; see that the bowels, liver and kidneys are working properly.

At the first sign of coated tongue, bad breath, fretfulness, loss of appetite, give your child BABY'S OWN TABLETS, a skilled physician's special prescription for babies and children. These Tablets stimulate the child's liver, cleanse the kidneys and move the bowels and, if taken in time, are a preventive of summer complaint.

If "summer complaint" develops despite your precautions, there is the more potent BABY'S OWN TABLETS. When Mrs. Hazel Allard's baby, of Whiting, was so bad that they despaired of saving her, Dr. Williams' BABY'S OWN TABLETS were tried. "After the third dose baby fell asleep; by noon the next day she took the usual bottle feeding"—so writes this grateful mother, who is only one of countless others who have found BABY'S OWN TABLETS invaluable for summer complaint, teething troubles, simple fever, colic, upset stomach and children's intestinal disorders.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS are as easy to take as candy and are absolutely SAFE—see analyst's certificate in each 25-cent package. Over one and a quarter million packages sold in one year. Don't be without a package on hand in the summer or any other time.

The regular monthly meeting of the Aged and Infirm Women's Home committee was held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with the president, Mrs. W. L. Clay, in the chair. Members present were: Madames I. A. Gould, W. Grant, Mrs. W. Leiser, F. W. Vincent, H. Grant, D. C. Sebastian, A. D. Whitaker and Miss E. O'Brien. All accounts for the month were ordered paid. The matron reported that two of the staff were on vacation, and everything was going on satisfactorily in the home.

About the middle of June the Florists' Delivery Association, Woodward's Victoria Flower Company, Woods and Ballantyne, sent beautiful flowers to the shut-ins of the institution.

The committee for the month includes Madames H. Grant, convenor; Mrs. Leiser and F. W. Vincent.

At the close of business Mrs. Clay spoke words of congratulation to one of the members, Mrs. F. W. Vincent, who has been a devoted member of the committee for over twenty-three years, presented her with a gift from the committee in commemoration of her golden wedding, which occurred June 14.

Adjournment was then made to the dining-room where tea had been prepared by the staff for the committee and inmates.

The staff presented Mrs. Vincent with a sheaf of golden gladiolus.

Donations for the month, flowers, Victoria Flower Company, and cake of strawberries. Mrs. T. Salt.

There is no elimination play, the best second in the match point system at the end of twenty-one matches, each of four hands, winning the Joe and Ely Culbertson gold cup. Seven matches were played to-day by each team.

The leaders were Milton Adler and Alfred Shernwold of New York, with 177 points. Next came Clarence A. Johnson, 172; and Philip Ayres of Los Angeles, with 170; Jack Karavats and Robert E. Branigan of Chicago, with 170 were in third place. Competition proved unexpectedly keen, said George Reith, executive vice-president of the United States Bridge Association, and Andrew J. Mount of Chicago secretary in charge of the matches.

The maximum points that might have been scored by any pair was 260. Mount said, giving the leaders a percentage of nearly 65, which he said was high for tournament play.

The King's Daughters' Rest Room at Fair

The King's Daughters in America have equipped a rest room in the Century of Progress Fair, Chicago, for the use of visitors who are members of the order, as well as those desiring a quiet, comfortable place in which to rest. Banners from all over the United States and Canada adorn the room, and it is interesting to learn that the display there is one from British Columbia, as well as a picture of the rest room of the King's Daughters in Victoria.

Doctors at the University Hospital know she will come any hour of the day or night. Within a period of four days she gave blood four times.

She never feels any physical reaction. Once she dropped household duties, got into lower Fifth Avenue and studied with an old chancery called for her, ice cream sodas, wine and chicken sandwiches.

Louise Lippman, the proprietor, enchanted with the way the plan caught on, has now opened a branch in the city of Victoria.

Both were a little nervous about it, they said, for it was an historic order, those two sodium bicarbs. It marked the beginning of the first drugstore sidewalk cafe this side of Paris.

After that came more orders. People are doing more, taking out of the drugstore on lower Fifth Avenue and with studied nonchalance called for her, ice cream sodas, wine and chicken sandwiches.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

SOME BABIES PREFER STARVATION
TO BOTTLE

There are not a few babies who rebel in no uncertain way against accepting bottles. They can refuse for hours to allow the nipple to lie in their mouths or stubbornly refrain from sucking upon it. Why children have such objections to bottles and nipples is not always easy to decipher.

POOR NIPPLE

The nipple itself may be a badly chafed sore so long that it literally chokes the small baby. It may be so stiff that pressure upon it is painful or tiresome. It may have no holes at all as some rubber nipples are manufactured without openings, or the holes may be so few and so small that the baby is unable to get enough air to extract nourishment through it.

Possibly the milk formula, when first presented to the child, is distasteful to him and so he refuses even to taste any subsequent presentation. The conscientious parent, fearful of anything cool, may prepare too hot a formula and the baby, who is not used to it, turns up at the first mouthful. This is quite enough to sour him permanently against further trials at bottle feeding. Further efforts to lure him to accept a bottle containing milk are unsuccessful because of his previous experience with bottle.

THE "PROPPED" BOTTLE

The mother who props a bottle precariously against a pillow and goes away, leaving the poor infant to fend for himself, is certain to discourage his efforts at bottle feeding. Any child who is fed by bottle should be "hand fed." The nipple should be held in a comfortable angle so that the nipple is filled with milk and not a mixture of air and milk. Stop the feeding frequently and allow the baby to change position and belch.

Often the baby's refusal to accept milk by bottle had better be treated by offering milk via spoon or cup until the child becomes used to the sensation. Meanwhile do a little massaging, as far as possible, of the early enmity toward the bottle, and be certain that this cause is removed before trying the bottle again.

By ROBERT QUILLER

The mother who is getting her summer outfit, while you are getting yours, will be pleased to know that the "return-trip" outfit, with its many pockets and a smartly cut tweed coat, with its new long cuffs and bag sleeves and its fox-furred collar, is what the smartly dressed girl will wish she is wearing when the leaves turn brown.

(Saks Fifth Avenue)

Buy a return-trip outfit, while you are getting your summer travel clothes! Bring in your Oxford gloves, and bag add to the fall practicality of this tweed and tweed ensemble. You'll feel just as chic returning in September as you do sailing in July! The suit is a double-breasted little number, with plenty of pockets, and a fox-furred collar. The coat is smartly cut tweed coat, with its new long cuffs and bag sleeves and its fox-furred collar, is what the smartly dressed girl will wish she is wearing when the leaves turn brown.

Mary didn't cheat when she traded me a piece of gum for a bite of my pie, but I didn't know a girl's mouth would stretch like that."

Large Gathering Attends
Native Sons Holiday
Celebration

Special to the Times
Courtenay, July 5.—The July celebration under the auspices of the Courtenay Assembly, Native Sons of Canada, was favored with good weather for the greater part of the day. Major Simms opened the affairs with a short address on the significance of the occasion.

The sports, including loggers events, track meet horse racing, and novelty contests arranged by the Native Sons attracted keen competition.

Baseball and cricket games and the marathon race were outstanding features of interest during the afternoon.

The Cumberland all-star baseball team defeated a picked Courtenay team 9 to 5 while the Courtenay cricketers went down 20 to 6 to the Vancouver Aurrors.

Working Wives

By ANNE GARDNER

Uncle Wiggily Finds Something

By HOWARD R. GARIS

"Harry, I'm going to be married!" Nan Hardy saw her companion's long, slender fingers tighten and was pleased.

"What? Nan? Why?" It was the first time Nan had seen Harry Gordon lose his self-possession. Many times she had been uncertain about him. Now he was uncertain about her.

She laughed softly.

"Why Harry! You sound unfaltering. Almost as if you thought no one would dare to marry me. Just because you don't."

But that last was an error. It told Harry she was speaking out of pique. The clenched fingers relaxed. At her reprovingly.

"You mustn't throw that word around carelessly. It makes me nervous. Besides, it's poor tactics. If you were any other woman in the world I'd think you were angling for a proposal. But knowing as I do how you feel about marriage."

Nan's brief moment of triumph was over. She was the old imperturbable Harry—moving and cynical whenever any serious subject was touched, who faced her now across the restaurant table.

Her face was inscrutable, but her thoughts were very busy. She made herself right-minded and for nothing. Harry had said that she had that silly thing about getting married? It had surprised her almost as much as it had Harry. Nan, the unattainable, with her strong views about careers for women, with the assured newspaper career ahead, what was she doing? Trying to beguile a man into proposing?

And Harry Gordon, of all men! Harry who had announced at their first meeting that he intended never to marry, who had never lost an opportunity since to point out what marriage did to talented people. She had assured him that he was a failure, safe with her. She, too, intended never to marry. And she had meant it. She meant it now, for that matter. And yet—

After all, though Nan was indeed a devout feminist, she was also a young one, in her very early twenties, in fact. And in planning her career, she had made arrangements for one important factor—love.

A young woman out of love could dismiss marriage with an epigram. But a young woman in love or perilously close to it, ah, that was another matter! For Nan had an aversion to marriage, and somewhere in the back of her brain there lingered tenaciously the feeling that the man of honor followed his "I love you" with "Will you marry me?"

Harry Gordon not only had done this, but he had proclaimed positively that while he kept his face, he would never marry. The second declaration was a blow. And yet he made love to Nan, made love masterfully, poetically, delightfully.

It was a situation, indeed, to give a young feminist pause. It had caused Nan many sleepless nights, while her clever twenty-year-old friend, other women, and Harry's position against an age-old tradition, and tried in vain:

It had caused her at last to do what, had she been older, she would never have done, try to wring an avowal from Harry by the oldest, cruelest subterfuge of womankind. Having done it, she was ashamed. But now that she had given it, far, she determined to have the matter out.

"If I wanted a husband, I'd be the last man I'd take."

He bowed as in acknowledging a compliment.

"But there's something that's been bothering me, Harry, something I want to talk to you about. What if a man like you, who has determined never to marry, should fall in love? And should make ardent love to the girl? And if she loves him too? What, under your system, happens then?"

She was afraid as soon as she had spoken. She should not have opened her mouth. But Harry had a tide of blood surging her face and throat.

Yet she had wronged him in her fear that he would take advantage of her indiscreet question. He did not show distaste for her impulsive thoughts. He liked women to be controlled as he. He patted her hand with a gentleness rare in him.

"Nan, dear, I know what's eating you. You'd like me to propose, so you could turn me down, and everything would be all right."

"Nan's eyes widened in surprise that he had done well. Harry went on:

"Don't you see, this is our test? We're up against nature's oldest trick, and we've got to fight to keep her from trapping us, tying us down, ruining our lives, keeping us mediocre when we could be successful, both of us."

"Take me. In the next few years I've got to be free to go anywhere in the world, do anything. Be in the middle of Africa one year, at the north pole the next, if I get the chance."

"Suppose I marry? Just with the lid on the coffin that?" Two tiny tears have fallen, a salaried Harry's eyes. Scared to lose a measly job because there's someone depending on you—what that but a particularly terrible form of suicide?

"Take me. Lord, I wish you could see yourself as I see you now!"

Nan, beginning to be awed at the way he talked in this vain, unbroken bark of him and then smiled provocatively.

"There's a mirror behind you, Harry. I can. What about it?"

But that last was an error. It told Harry she was speaking out of pique. The clenched fingers relaxed. At her reprovingly.

"You sound just like a Sunday feature story, but I love it. Don't dare stop."

"Well, so much for the outward appearance. What's behind your eyes? I know that. Your arching brows are beautiful and so are your eyes. I think you need a man who can do a little work. Then he wants to see all the way. That's why you can be such a devastating flirt when you choose."

"Oh, I don't know," said the rabbit gently.

"That's funny!" laughed Harry. "If you don't know where you are going, maybe you'll get lost. But I don't mind being lost with you. We can have some fun camping out."

"Oh, I won't get lost," said Uncle Wiggily with a laugh. "When I say I don't know where I am going I just mean I don't know."

"Your nose is perfect—the only feature that is, from the standpoint of pure line. But your face is more intriguing because your eyes have that curious Oriental slant and because your mouth is a little—shall we say generous?"

"But perhaps I'm boring you?"

Nan pursed the aforementioned mouth at him.

"You sound just like a Sunday feature story, but I love it. Don't dare stop."

WRITERS ARE NOT WELCOME

H. Nimmo, Detroit Saturday Night Publisher, Not Allowed to Visit Manchukuo

Excursions into the new state of Manchukuo by newspaper correspondents to secure first-hand information as to conditions existing there, are not being encouraged by the Japanese government.

H. Nimmo, publisher of The Detroit Saturday Night, accompanied by his son, returned here yesterday after making the round trip on the S.S. Empress of Japan.

Mr. Nimmo had intended penetrating into Manchukuo with the object of obtaining material for a series of articles for his publication, which had a circulation in the eastern states, but his plans were foiled by the Tokio authorities.

The publisher was treated with every courtesy by the Japanese government officials and was entertained and supplied with information about Manchukuo in high quarters in Tokio, but he did not go into Manchukuo as he had intended.

SUCUMBED THIS MORNING

Miss Agnes Hamilton Rae passed away yesterday morning at an early hour at St. Joseph's Hospital in her seventy-fifth year. She was born in the county of Lambton, Ontario, on January 27, 1858, and had been a resident of Victoria for the last seven years, making her home at 1206 Douglas Street. She is survived by one brother, William A. Rae, a barrister in Edmonton, and four sisters, Mrs. Helen Ratray, 1933; Frank, Terence, Michael, Mrs. A. Cox Edmonton; Mrs. Mary Duff of Drinker, Saskatchewan; and Mrs. B. J. Manville of Prince Albert, Saskatchewan.

She attended St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

Announcement of funeral will be made later.

One of their enjoyable dances will be given by Ward One Liberal Association on Friday evening, in the Liberal rooms, corner of Government and Broughton Streets. Dancing will be carried on from 8:30 until 11:30 o'clock, and for this Bert Zala's orchestra has been engaged. There will be a tombola.

POLICE SURPRISE IN EARLY HOURS

Lee Sang Taken From Bed on Drug Possession Charge, to Serve Six Months

Lee Sang's dreams were interrupted early this morning by the thundering of R.C.M.P. officers at the door of his room in a Herald Street building. The policemen broke down the door and found him sitting up half asleep.

A thorough search of the room brought to light five decks of opium hidden beneath a Dunnage bag in one corner.

He was convicted in the City Police Court this morning on a charge of possession of the drug and sentenced to six months and fined $200, or an additional two months. He has previously been charged with the offense of being a druggist, and Magistrate G.J. Jay expressed surprise that he had not been deported. It was pointed out that the last conviction was in 1923 before the tightening of the narcotic laws and that this time Lee would take a trip back to the land of his fathers after he has served his sentence.

BAND CONCERT IS TO-NIGHT

Firemen's Band, Under Al. Prescott, to Give Programme in Beacon Hill Park

Following is the programme to be given by the band of the City Fire Department at Beacon Hill Park at 8 o'clock this evening. "Marches" (Linen); "Golden Sceptre" (Schlegel); selection, "To-night's the Night" (Rubens); song, "Love Here Is My Heart" (Siles); march, "The Midy" (Alford); intermezzo, "After Sun" (Prior); march, "The St. Barbara Cinderella" (Howard); "Lysistrata" (Link); selection, "Comanitas" (Stodart); tone picture, "Return of the Scout" (Clement).

Under the baton of Bandmaster Al. Prescott, the Firemen's Band will give a concert in Beacon Hill Park this evening at 8 o'clock. A programme that is essentially bright and tuneful has been arranged by Bandmaster Prescott, yet there is enough interest in the programme to illustrate the equity of the present system of taxing land.

The Workers' Sports Association will hold a picnic at Whiffen Spit on July 16, for which no charge will be made other than a small fee for transportation.

The W.S.A. is comprised mostly of unemployed youths of Victoria, and in order to make the sports programme of the picnic a success, the charges will be for drugs, and Magistrate G.J. Jay expressed surprise that he had not been deported. It was pointed out that the last conviction was in 1923 before the tightening of the narcotic laws and that this time Lee would take a trip back to the land of his fathers after he has served his sentence.

POUR LIQUOR INTO HARBOR

U.S. Customs Officers Confiscate Liquor From Celebrating Seattle Visitors.

Residents of Seattle, visiting Victoria yesterday to celebrate the "glorious fourth" ignored without the smallest show of respect the officials when they set out to return to Seattle yesterday evening.

Carrying bottles of various brands they boarded the S.S. Tacoma at the dock yesterday afternoon. They handed in their tickets and passed United States immigration officials at the head of the pier, the visitors did well. But as soon as they put foot aboard the Tacoma, which is a United States ship, and considered a part of that country afloat, even though it was tied up to a Canadian wharf, they were "frisked" by customs officers, who then seized all the liquor, which they could lay their hands on, according to reports in circulation here.

As one officer took the bottles away from the passengers, another coolly opened them and proceeded to dump the contents into the inner harbor. Several gallons of liquor, from locally known brands, were dumped into the reported whisks and gins from England and Scotland, mixed with the waters of the harbor and the bottles were later gathered by the dock hands.

British Columbia's Football Affairs Face Another Tangle

Coast Leaguers Are Disgusted With Treatment in Dominion Series

Joe Malcewicz Pulls Smart Play at Expense of Jim Londos

JUST WHEN IT looked like British Columbia's soccer difficulties had been straightened out through the wizardry of that veteran arbitrator of the Dominion of Canada Football Association, Secretary Sam Davidson of St. Andrews, a new rift appears on the horizon between the Coast League and the British Columbia Football Association. At the present time there is one Coast League entry left in the Dominion championship series — Nanaimo, St. Andrews, St. Saviour's and Westminster Royals have been knocked off. And both sides are prepared to lay down their protest against the victories of their opponents. The former after losing their protest to the B.C.F.A. appealed to the D.F.A., but lost out again. The Saints defeated North Shore but were ordered to replay the match through their having used two ineligible players. In the second game they were beaten. They in turn protested, but to no avail.

Monday night in Vancouver the Royals lost a protest to the B.C.F.A. over the result of their match with Cowan-Dodson. The Coast League club officials intimated they will appeal to the D.F.A. again, as they have the right to do. The Dominion body will stand against the ruling of its provincial association. The Royals protested on four points — grounds, referee, lights and the awarding of a penalty, which decided the match. However, the B.C.F.A. moguls would not grant them a single one of their arguments in hearing the protest.

This action on the part of the B.C.F.A. and D.F.A. is certain to rankle in the minds of the Coast League players and officials and it would not be surprising if the coast clubs are operating on their own again next year. The general feeling of the Coast League appears to be summed up in the words of one of their followers: "Anything we get," he said brightly, "is exactly what we asked for, when we were induced to patch things up and seek entry in the B.C.F.A. again. To put things in a nutshell, we are apathetic, and the utter uselessness of expecting anything like an even break should have been apparent to all of us from the outset. Do not be too greatly surprised if the break back into what the B.C.F.A. calls outlaw football, is achieved with not a little determination and vigor."

Joe Malcewicz, well-known heavyweight wrestler, who has two victories over Jim Londos to his credit, pulled a fast one on the so-called heavyweight champion the other night. Malcewicz recently invaded a show at Worcester, Mass., in which Londos was scheduled to appear in the main bout. It appears that Londos and "Bud" Dusak were matched for the feature bout of a show, proceeds of which were to go to a Greek charity. The announcees happened to be on friendly terms with Malcewicz and between them they arranged a very interesting little programme, much to the discomfiture of Londos.

The anhouser made a very flowery speech prior to the start of the main match, praising the worthy persons of the show and how grand it was. Then he pointed out that the profits would not exceed $500 and announced that there was a wrestler in the crowd who would turn over an additional $1,000 to the charity fund if Londos would consent to wrestle him. "That wrestler," shouted the announcees, "is Joe Malcewicz," and with that Utica grappled the ring and crossed the Londos corner. "What do you want here?" asked Londos. "I want to wrestle you," replied Malcewicz, and then Londos's manager rushed to the rescue and insisted Joe leave the ring. Londos claims a championship.

Major league hockey players are having quite a time these days playing baseball on the prairies. And the lads who chase pucks in the winter time are no punks when it comes to the summer sports. In a recent game with the House of David the "Rockers" were beaten as follows: Martin, 28; Paul Thompson, 19; Terry Thompson, 20; Joe McGoldrick, 22; McTeer, 21; Lewis, 19; Jenkins, 23; Dutch Gainer, 18 and Walker, 20. In another game at Calgary Smokey Harris, former member of the Seattle club in the Pacific Coast Hockey League, pitched for the "Rockers."

Winnipeg Summer Racing Concluded

Winnipeg, July 5. — The summer racing season came to an end here yesterday with Sam Gorbet's Hoops furnishing the surprise of the day with a victory in the Stockyards Handicap feature event.

Hoops had a length and a half to the good at the end of the mile and one-sixteenth of a mile run. The heavily played game of Jack Biener and Excellence finished second and third, respectively.

The longest shot of the day was in the third when Jiminy L stepped away from a good field to pay $16.10, and the daily double paid $98.75.

YOUTHFUL BASEBALL

Maple Leafs and Rosebuds captured the opening game in the newly-formed Juvenile baseball league. The former won with ease from Saanich Midgets, 20 to 5, while the latter nosed out the Capitals in a free-scoring game, 14 to 13.

Local Youngster Given High Honor; Matson Is Captain

TENNIS STARS MOVE FORWARD

Favorites Won Yesterday in Victoria Lawn Tennis Club Championships

Ross Hocking, Defending Champion in Open Singles, Defeats L. Backler

Favorites progressed a round in the open events of the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club's championships as a result of play yesterday. Those advancing included Ross Hocking, Marsh Gordon, Noel Radford, Reg Corfield, Gerry Cunningham and Hugo Rayment in the men's singles; Mrs. R. B. Wilson in the women's singles and Helen Campbell and Mona Miller in the women's doubles.

The other three members of the team will be chosen from among Vancouver's leading amateurs. Kenny Black, holder of the British Columbia amateur tennis championship, and Stan Leonard, former provincial amateur champion, have already been selected, but the fourth member is still in doubt. There is a possibility that Leonard will not be available. He injured an ankle ten days ago, and it is not known whether he will have recovered in time. Leonard is to be forced to scratch his entry for the P.N.W. tournament owing to the injury.

MATSON IS CAPTAIN

Jack Matson, Victoria's popular southpaw, has accepted the captaincy of the British Columbia team for the third straight year. In 1931 Matson took the first British Columbia team to Montreal, which included the following players: Bob Matson and Harold Wood and Don Gowan, Vancouver. The following year Jack led the British Columbia forces to Toronto with the following players under his wing: Morrison, Ken Black, Jim Bell and Stan Leonard. At Montreal the Coast players were not to be outdone by Ontario, however, while last year Ontario scored another victory, although the British Columbia team made a strong bid for the honors.

In announcing his acceptance of the position to-day Matson stated there was a possibility the British Columbia team would be the best in the Dominion, if Leonard's injury would keep him out of the game. Taylor makes the third Victoria golfer to represent British Columbia in these matches. On his showing in the P.N.W. which saw him lose the final to Albert "Scotty" Campbell, 6-2, 6-3, he has established himself as one of the finest amateurs in this province.

The youngster is expected to make a first class showing in the interprovincial match, and also in the Canadian amateur. All members of the British Columbia team will participate in the national tournament.

COMPETITION IS AT VANCOUVER

Several Other Victoria Players Will Participate in Canadian Championship

Alan Taylor, holder of the Victoria Golf Club championship, and runner-up in last week's championship of the Pacific Northwest Golf Association over his home links, was accorded high honors to-day when it was announced he had been selected as a member of the team to represent British Columbia in the interprovincial match for the Wellingdon Cup at Vancouver next week. The competition, staged in conjunction with the Canadian amateur championship, will be decided over the course of the Shaughnessy Heights Club, with the British Columbia team meeting squads from the other Canadian provinces.

The other three members of the team will be chosen from among Vancouver's leading amateurs. Kenny Black, holder of the British Columbia amateur tennis championship, and Stan Leonard, former provincial amateur champion, have already been selected, but the fourth member is still in doubt. There is a possibility that Leonard will not be available. He injured an ankle ten days ago, and it is not known whether he will have recovered in time. Leonard is to be forced to scratch his entry for the P.N.W. tournament owing to the injury.

MATSON IS CAPTAIN

Jack Matson, Victoria's popular southpaw, has accepted the captaincy of the British Columbia team for the third straight year. In 1931 Matson took the first British Columbia team to Montreal, which included the following players: Bob Matson and Harold Wood and Don Gowan, Vancouver. The following year Jack led the British Columbia forces to Toronto with the following players under his wing: Morrison, Ken Black, Jim Bell and Stan Leonard. At Montreal the Coast players were not to be outdone by Ontario, however, while last year Ontario scored another victory, although the British Columbia team made a strong bid for the honors.

In announcing his acceptance of the position to-day Matson stated there was a possibility the British Columbia team would be the best in the Dominion, if Leonard's injury would keep him out of the game. Taylor makes the third Victoria golfer to represent British Columbia in these matches. On his showing in the P.N.W. which saw him lose the final to Albert "Scotty" Campbell, 6-2, 6-3, he has established himself as one of the finest amateurs in this province.

The youngster is expected to make a first class showing in the interprovincial match, and also in the Canadian amateur. All members of the British Columbia team will participate in the national tournament.

Westminster Royals Appeal To Dominion Association

Vancouver, July 5.—Westminster Royals have appealed the decision of the British Columbia Football Association in throwing out their protest against the result of last week's Dominion play-down against Cowan-Dodson, to the Dominion Football Association. Secretary Bob Forgie of the B.C.F.A. has received a wire from Secretary Sam Davidson of the D.F.A. from Winnipeg asking for full information immediately on the disallowing of the protest.

Meanwhile Secretary Forgie is going ahead with arrangements for the playing of the British Columbia final on Saturday between Cowan-Dodson and the winners of to-night's game between Regents and Nanaimo City.

Referee Joe Craig will handle the final.

CLUB TOURNEY ROSEBUDS IN SURPRISE WIN AT HILLCREST

Defeat Sons of Canada 3 to 2 in Twilight Baseball League Fixture

In the Twilight Baseball League game played at the Athletic Park yesterday evening the Rosebuds sprang an upset by handing the Sons of Canada a 3 to 2 setback.

It was the third straight defeat for the Sons and dropped them into a first-place tie with the Indians.

The Buds' win put them into second place with the Tigers. To-morrow evening the Buds' and Indians will hook-up in a crucial encounter.

Haley Jackson, Buds' pitcher, played big factor in his team's victory. With the score tied 2 to 2 in the eighth, Jackson came through with a triple and scored the winning run on Murray's single.

In the women's singles, Elsie Weeks, the 1932 leader, will take on all comers in her crown.

Butler and Herb Davey are paired in the men's doubles again after their victory in the semi-final last year.

The draw for this evening's play follows:

8.00—V. Simpson vs. Brabazon, Miss 6.00—W. M. M. Wilson vs. K. E. Wilson, 6.00—Miss K. Moline vs. Miss C. M. Johnson, 7.00—V. Hicks vs. E. Clarke, Miss D. Hicks vs. Miss Stevens, Erickson and Margison vs. Brakes and Shanks.

Miss Robertson And Carr-Hilton First

Duncan, July 5.—With forty-four entries in the twilight foursomes played on the hills, the first round of the British Columbia amateur tournament, Miss Robertson and E. W. Carr-Hilton were the winners with a net score of 30

SOCIETY HEARS DR. G. H. RAMSEY

Analogy Between Plant Life, Animal Life and Human Life Discussed

Victoria Horticultural Society held its monthly meeting at the City Hall yesterday evening when a large audience heard Dr. G. H. Ramsey discuss the analogy between plant life, animal life and human life, relating observations from nature to years experienced in the medical profession. The speaker was able to give illustrations, most of which had occurred during the years of his intensive study. The products of the soil were dealt with from a standpoint of health. The varieties most beneficial to human health were outlined both in fruit and vegetables.

Dr. A. G. Price and F. B. Robinson expressed the society's thanks for the interesting address.

H. Whitehead, F.R.H.S., presided and reminded the members of the home and garden competition entries for which must be made by July 11, and the annual flower show which will be held at the Willowes July 28 and 29.

The society decided to participate in the island picnic which was planned for July 12 at Jumbo Bros. and Crossland Bros. Duncan.

Home competition was seen in the monthly competition, A. M. Scotts securing first for specimen rose and D. Brown second, while F. T. Rawlins was first for his exhibit of garden peas and Gob. Little second.

WILL START ARCTIC TRIP

Ss. Anox Will Leave Vancouver To-morrow For Arctic Settlements

Bound for isolated trading posts along the rim of the Arctic Circle, the chartered steamer Anox, of the Pacific Salvage Company, will sail from Vancouver to-morrow afternoon with a full load of supplies for the traders and trappers of the Far North. She is in the service of the Hudson's Bay Company, and will return to Vancouver in September, with her annual cargo of furs, caught by the Indian hunters during the winter months.

Capt. B. D. Johnson of Vancouver will be in command of the Anox on her voyage, which will take her to Herschel Island, at far north Point Barrow. The length of the cruise, and the distance traveled, depend on weather conditions in the Arctic. J. R. Sturman will be chief officer.

There is the possibility the voyage this year will extend to a point even beyond Point Barrow to a settlement far to the Arctic Circle, near the mouth of the Coppermine River, which is a Royal Canadian Mounted Police post there, and the Anox has loaded supplies and mail for the officers there. It will be their only communication with the outside world in many months.

R. Price, manager of the Hudson's Bay Company, will accompany the Anox on her voyage. The party will also take a number of passengers. Servants of the company will be going into the Arctic for the next twelve months, releasing others who have been there since last summer. The party will also take a number of various posts in the Arctic.

Ice is never out of the Arctic Ocean, and in September it starts to form, making it dangerous for ships. The Anox will be equipped with special ice breakers, installed during the last few days at the Salvage Company's plant in North Vancouver. The ship will make the voyage around to Point Barrow and get back just as quickly as possible to avoid meeting the same fate as the Bayano two years ago. She was caught in the ice off Nome and crushed to pieces.

The society decided to participate in the island picnic which was planned for July 12 at Jumbo Bros. and Crossland Bros. Duncan.

Home competition was seen in the monthly competition, A. M. Scotts securing first for specimen rose and D. Brown second, while F. T. Rawlins was first for his exhibit of garden peas and Gob. Little second.

WILL START ARCTIC TRIP

Ss. Anyox Will Leave Vancouver To-morrow For Arctic Settlements

Bound for isolated trading posts along the rim of the Arctic Circle, the chartered steamer Anyox, of the Pacific Salvage Company, will sail from Vancouver to-morrow afternoon with a full load of supplies for the traders and trappers of the Far North. She is in the service of the Hudson's Bay Company, and will return to Vancouver in September, with her annual cargo of furs, caught by the Indian hunters during the winter months.

Capt. B. D. Johnson of Vancouver will be in command of the Anyox on her long voyage which will take her to Hecetae Island, a far north as Point Barrow. The length of her cruise, and the distance north will depend on weather conditions in the Arctic. J. R. Summers will be chief officer.

There is a possibility the voyage this year will be extended to a point even farther north, to a point far in the Arctic Circle, near the mouth of the Coppermine River. There is a Royal Canadian Mounted Police post there, and the Anyox has loaded supplies and mail for the officers there. It will be the first ship to bring supplies to the outside world in many months.

R. Patmore, transport manager of the Hudson's Bay Company, will accompany the Anyox on her voyage. The ship will also take a number of passengers. Servants of the company will be on board. The Anyox will be out twelve months, relieving others who have been there since last summer. The ship will also take a number of various posts along the Arctic.

Ice is never out of the Arctic Ocean, and in September it starts to form. The Anyox is equipped with special ice breakers. Installed during the last few days at the Salvage Company's plant in North Vancouver. The ship will make the voyage around to Point Barrow and get back as quickly as possible to avoid meeting the same fate as the Yamchino two years ago. She was caught in the ice off Nome and crushed to pieces.
